Fractured Fairytales and ReMixed Myths

A WHOLISTIC PERFORMING ARTS CLASS

COURSE DESCRIPTION: In this theatre class, students will use well-known folklore, myths and fairytales to create an original adventure story that reflects their own experiences. Along the way, they will explore creative storytelling techniques, character analysis, voice and movement skills for the stage. Students will develop their performance through improv games and ensemble-building exercises. They will also explore singing technique and beginning music theory. In the end, their newly devised work will feature scenes and a fun musical opening and closing number that will introduce them to the fundamentals of musical theater in preparation for the spring musical.
